

We publish the gratifying news this morning that contracts have been given out, nearly all of them to Memphis firms, for the construction of the line of railroad recently surveyed from Bald Knob, Mo., through Arkansas to this city. This line, which will be ninety-six miles in length, connects with the Iron Mountain railroad and will make that great highway one of the contributing roads to Memphis. This will increase the importance of this city as a railroad center, and will no doubt have the effect to hurry other important lines to consummate their purpose of finding an entrance here.

Mr. Logan Walker of Holly Springs is a candidate for the office of Railroad Commissioner. He is a business man of repute and of extended experience, knows Mississippi and its people well, and would make an able member of a board upon which so much depends for the business interests of the State. Mr. Walker has represented the APPEAL as a traveling correspondent for the past five years, and we know him to be reliable and earnest in business affairs. His acquaintance with the State fits him admirably for the place, and the APPEAL asks the members of the Legislature to give him an opportunity of proving his merits in the office to which he confidently aspires.

The inquiry now being conducted by a committee of the State Senate of New York into the ways and means by which Mr. "Jake" Sharp secured from the mayor and aldermen of New York City the right of way along Broadway for his surface railroad, has developed the fact that it was paid for in good hard cash. Sharp managed the thing himself and covered up his tracks pretty well, but the men he bought are not as sharp as he is and they find it difficult to evade the inquisitorial probing of Mr. Conkling, who is determined to expose the gang who cannot plead that they are orphans. Mr. Sharp has at last found his match and the end of his career may shortly be found in the Albany penitentiary or in Canada as a colonist.

We learn from the New York Evening Post that Mr. Dorman B. Eaton's article in the February number of Lippincott's Magazine, replying to Gail Hamilton's diatribe against civil service reform in the January issue of that periodical, is an uncommonly vigorous piece of writing. Mr. Blaine's female champion had collected all the abstruse arguments of the spoliemen against the reform, and Mr. Eaton takes them up serially and exposes their utter absurdity in the most convincing way possible—by the records of the civil service under which the Blaine family defends, and by the testimony of leading public men of Mr. Blaine's own party. Point by point he follows this mouthpiece of a disappointed Presidential candidate's spites through her scolding screed, and shows how illogical and unfounded are all her defenses of the spoils system.

The speech of Senator Morgan on the Blair educational bill proves that he has much to learn as to the people of the United States. To characterize 40,000,000 of them as dead-beats, dead-heads and non-producers is to discredit his own intelligence and libel the industrial classes, without whose labor capital would be inert and valueless, and payment of taxes impossible. It is by the labor of all the workers in the Union that it is maintained. The professional men and women, the laborers in field and cottage, in factory and workshop—these are the people who pay the taxes, and it is their children who are to be immediately benefited by the passage of the Blair bill, which we are glad to see is earnestly and ably supported by Senator George of Mississippi, one of the most sterling Democrats in the Senate. Every Southern Senator should vote for the Blair bill, because the South is to derive the greatest profit from it.

The name Gayoso came from which one of the principal hotels and a street of Memphis are known. They are named after the last of the Spanish Governors of the northern portion of the Territory of Louisiana, Don Manuel Gayoso de Lemos. He was Commandant and Lieutenant-Governor of the Natchez District, and secured the privilege from the Chickasaw Indians of building a fort at the mouth of Wolf river, on the site occupied by Fort Assumption, built by Bienville's troops in 1780. This fort was defended by eight twelve-pound cannon, and was completed in 1793. It was dismantled and destroyed in 1795, when Gen. Pike took possession of the name of the Government.

Years before the whole territory once known as Louisiana, and that alternately had belonged to France and Spain, had been ceded by the former power. But as late as 1818 the Spaniards laid claim to the site of Memphis as part of the East Baton Rouge government. The cession of Florida, however, forever put an end to this claim, which was long the subject of diplomatic correspondence. Besides the hotel and the street, the principal of the three bayous that disfigure the site of the city and have always been an eyesore is named for Don Gayoso, who was a faithful and vigilant officer

MITCHELL'S CHINESE BILL.

PROVISIONS OF THE SENATOR'S PROPOSED MEASURE.

The Telephone Matter—Morrison's Tariff Bill—Fourth of July Claims—State Dinner.

WASHINGTON, February 11.—Representative Gibson, chairman of the House Committee on Expenditures in the Department of Justice, has received replies from the Secretary of the Interior and the Attorney-General to the resolution of the committee asking what money had been expended by their departments in the Pan-Electric and Bell Telephone cases. The reply of the Secretary of the Interior says $35 for printing, etc., was the only money expended in his department. The Attorney-General says no money has been expended in his department, but that counsel have been retained for the prosecution of the government suit. No money has yet been paid these counsel. Their names have already been made public. The resolution under which the committee is acting simply directs it to find out what money has been expended by the government in the telephone cases. The replies will be laid before the committee at its meeting on Saturday next, and Mr. Gibson says he expects to be able to report to the House on Monday the report of the committee on investigation.

Mr. Garland's Resignation Not Requested by the President.

Washington special to the New York Post. The attention of Attorney-General Garland was this morning called to a dispatch from New York which stated that "the World" said that the President had decided to ask Garland to resign.

Mr. Garland answered: "You may say that there is no truth in the report so far as I have been advised, and it occurs to me that I should know. You may say that if such information reaches me I will be sure to advise the world."

"You may further say," said the Attorney-General, "that the reports that I have received of the Pan-Electric stock or an am donee of that company, are not correct. People seem to have forgotten my letter to the President, dated October 5, 1885. Turning to that letter the Attorney-General read this sentence: 'About three years ago I, with some six or seven other gentlemen, entered into an organization known as the Pan-Electric Telephone Company, which was called the Rogers invention. We formed that company in good faith, and started it in its operations,' etc. 'You will see from this,' said the Attorney-General, 'that I was one of the original incorporators of this company, and as such entitled to stock.'"

Mr. Garland was preparing to go to a Cabinet meeting, and evidently had no expectation that his resignation would be asked. The President has recently said to friends that a request for the resignation of Mr. Garland was not in contemplation.

An Editorial Inaccuracy.

The Pan-Electric department of the New York World may be interesting reading, but whether it will do to bet on is another thing. For instance, it published on the 6th instant, a letter to Dr. Rogers from Gen. J. D. C. Atkins, now Commissioner of the office of Indian Affairs, and credited to him as chairman of the House Appropriations Committee. The letter is dated April 10, 1885. The editor seems to have forgotten that Gen. Atkins's congressional career closed March 4, 1885, and his term as chairman of the Appropriations Committee expired two years before that. At the time of the organization of the Pan-Electric Company, March 13, 1885, Mr. Atkins was a private citizen. The letter itself is of no relevance, and one that he might have written with propriety when he was chairman. But he didn't. It is well for publishers to guard the veracity of their statements if they expect them to carry any weight.

After reciting in a preamble that all treaties which prohibit the United States from absolutely prohibiting the coming of Chinese to the United States are pernicious to the peace, domestic tranquility and general welfare of the United States, the bill provides that no treaty, treaty, or other agreement between the United States and any foreign power, which shall be in violation of the United States Constitution, shall be binding on the United States, and that any such treaty, treaty, or other agreement shall be null and void.

Mr. Dyson, in his testimony, declared that Mrs. Bartlett asked him to buy chloroform with which to give her husband, who was restless at night, that he bought chloroform in small quantities at three different shops, pretending that he wished to remove stains from clothing with it; that he asked Mrs. Bartlett after her husband's death, what she had done with the chloroform, and that she replied that she had never used it. Mr. Bartlett's will left his property to his wife, and appointed Mr. Dyson executor. Mrs. Bartlett was arrested this evening. Mr. Dyson has been bound over to appear as a witness.

SPORTING NEWS.

National Trotting Association.
CHICAGO, February 11.—The Congress of the National Trotting Association continued its session to-day. Nearly the entire forenoon session was consumed in a consideration of the report of the secretary and treasurer, some complaints having been put forward by various members of the delay in obtaining an accounting of disputed moneys turned over to the secretary. John Splan was one of the complainants, citing that he had been compelled to pay $50 over to the Arbitration Committee, and that it must have gone into the sinking fund.

Mr. Barman of Iowa offered the following resolution:
Resolved, That a special meeting of the congress of this association be held in Cleveland on the third Tuesday in November, 1886, and that the Committee on Investigation of the Secretary and Treasurer report to that meeting, and that 500 copies of such report be printed and mailed to each member.

ARRANGEMENTS COMPLETED FOR THE FINAL SERVICES.

Letters of Condolence Still Pouring In From All Parts of the Country.

NEW YORK, February 11.—The widow of Gen. Hancock enjoyed a good night's rest last evening, and was much refreshed this morning. The guards in the chamber with the body last night were Lieut. A. W. Vogde and W. B. McCallum. During to-day Lieut. J. E. Sawyer and O. F. Ward were on duty. Dispatches and letters of condolence continue to pour in from all parts of the country.

Crittenden. J. Pierpont Morgan is treasurer of the fund. These sums have been signed: Samuel J. Tilden, $1000; Wm. B. Grace, $500; M. B. Brown, $250; J. D. Crimmins, $250. The circular accompanying the subscription paper says the general was kept poor by the calls upon his official hospitality and the constant charities which he gave to those in distress.

THE REMAINS.

Death of a Well-Known Sporting Man.

DETROIT, Mich., February 11.—Capt. Samuel H. Smithers, well known to sporting men throughout the country, died here this morning of typhoid pneumonia. He was born at Gallopole, N. C., sixty years ago, and was for a long time a steamboat captain between Pittsburgh and New Orleans. An army paymaster named Cook, gambled away $200,000 of government money in Cincinnati during the war, and Smithers being in the game, was obliged to visit Canada. By furnishing valuable information from rebel fugitives in that country, he gained leave of the Federal government to return un molested, and since has lived here, being known as the owner of a number of fast horses during the last fifteen years. He leaves a widow and an estate valued at $30,000.

The St. Paul Ice Carnival.

Grand Army delegations are arriving from Northern Illinois, Northern Iowa, Wisconsin, Minnesota, Dakota and Montana, who, with regulars from Fort Snelling and uniformed toboggan and snowshoe clubs, will participate to-morrow afternoon in a parade, and to-morrow night in the storming of the ice palace, which will be the event of the winter carnival.
